CITY COUNCIL.

A large volume of business was transacted at the regular meeting of the City Council last night. Most of it, however, was of a routine nature. The ordinance creating the office of superintendent of gas and obliterating advertisements from telegraph and other poles were passed.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

All the Aldermen were present. No spectators of the proceedings appeared without the bar.

Shortly after the board had been called to order Mr. Clark asked what had become of the report of the committee on light showing the cost of enlarging the city's electric light plant. He said the committee had spent much time and labor in ascertaining everything in connection with the matter and had prepared the report with care.

The speaker was informed that the report had been submitted to the Common Council and that board had received it. The Aldermen had simply concurred in their action.

Mr. Clark did not think the committee had been treated with proper deference in the matter. The people wanted electric lights, and it was time they were having them.

Mr. J. T. Sweeney doubted the propriety of calling up the report now.

Mr. Clark said he would move to take it up, and the chair would have to decide on the legality of such action. He did not want the report to be put to sleep on the table.

Mr. J. T. Sweeney said the action of the two boards at the last meeting meant no more than that Council at that time did not desire to take further action. The matter could come up at any subsequent time in the nature of an ordinance to carry out the recommendations of the committee. When he helped to prepare the report he naturally expected Council would do nothing more at present than receive it. The report embraced nothing more than information on which Council could at some future time act upon.

Mr. Clark urged that the report be taken up and referred to the committee on public property and light.

The messenger was sent to the chamber of the Common Council for the purpose of obtaining the report, but he soon returned without it, the paper being in the hands of the Auditor, who had left his office a few minutes previously.

After some further debate Mr. Clark offered a resolution, which was passed, referring the report to the committee on public property, finance, and light.

Mr. Hill presented a petition from Mr. E. E. Dowdham asking for a reduction of rental from ten to five dollars a year on a lot owned by him at the corner of Pitt and Princess streets, he stating that the city at present used two-thirds of said lot. The petition was referred to the finance committee. This and Mr. Clark's resolution were the only papers presented in the Aldermen, the other business transacted coming from the lower board, most of which was concurred in without debate.

After the ordinance forbidding the placing of advertising signs, &c., on telegraph and other poles in the city had been read.

Mr. Clark moved an amendment, allowing the placing of the advertisements on the poles, but making it a misdemeanor to post such advertisements less than six feet from the pavement. He said the dresses of ladies were often torn by the signs placed too far down on the poles. He was, however, opposed to obliterating them altogether, as the parties who placed the signs, &c., on the poles paid Mr. Hill, the regular licensed bill poster of the city, for the privilege, and the city to a small extent at least was benefited thereby.

Mr. J. T. Sweeney called attention to the fact that, in cases where companies had been granted the privilege to erect poles it was with the understanding that they should be kept painted and in a slightly condition. If that law was carried out the poles would be no places for advertising designs.

Mr. Clark wanted to know why the law was not carried out.

Mr. Sweeney replied that he did not know.

Mr. Clark insisted on his amendment. He did not desire to stop the placarding of the poles entirely, nor did he want to see a fence built around Alexandria.

Mr. Sweeney said such placarding rendered the poles unsightly. All descriptions of advertising appeared on them, and some of the devices, made of tin, were always tearing ladies' dresses and men's coats. He urged that there were plenty of other places in the city where such advertising could be done. He again referred to the provisions in the ordinances granting permission for the erection of poles, and said they were formerly kept painted. He did not know why they were not painted at regular times, but they should be.

Mr. Clark said his amendment requiring the placing of the placards a few feet from the ground would remedy all difficulties.

Mr. Hill said the present mode of covering the poles with advertising signs made them look unsightly. It made King street especially present a sorry spectacle. Personally he was in no wise interested in the placing of the advertisements. It was a small matter to him so far as bill posting was concerned.

Mr. W. H. Sweeney controverted Mr. Clark's impressions concerning the matter under discussion. The people who engaged in placarding the city paid no taxes, nor did they take out licenses. Such things were not allowed in other cities.

Mr. Hill said some of our own merchants used this mode of advertising.

Mr. J. T. Sweeney was satisfied that should the Aldermen concur in the action of the Common Council by passing the ordinance no one would be driven away from the city. He wanted the poles placed in a slightly condition.

Mr. Clark said much more unsightly pictures than the poles were seen in the streets of the city every day. He referred to chicken coops, ash boxes, &c., which are often seen on curbstones. Nothing, he thought, were more unsightly than the things he named. It was rather late in the day to begin the cheese-paring provided in the ordinance under consideration.

Mr. Clark's amendment was lost by a tie vote—Messrs. Marbury, Curtin, W. H. and J. T. Sweeney against it, and Messrs. Clark, Hill, Dobie and Ballenger for it.

The ordinance was then read the third time and passed by a vote of ayes 7, noes 1—Mr. Dobie. The latter, however, changed his vote subsequently and was recorded with the majority.

The other business which came in from the lower board occasioned no debate.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Mr. Snowden was called to the chair in the absence of the president.

Mr. Burke said that as the committee on general laws had no quorum at its last meeting he took the responsibility of introducing an ordinance forbidding signs, etc., on telegraph or telephone poles, which was read.

Messrs. Lawler, Smith and Evans suggested that the signs now up be taken down.

An additional section was made requesting the City Engineer to have such signs now existing removed and the ordinance was unanimously adopted, and $25 was appropriated to carry out its provisions.

The committee on streets reported in favor of a $900 improvement of Duke street, from West street to the Stone bridge; also a resolution for an ordinance for the improvement of curb and guttering on that street under the 33rd section.

The City Engineer said that the total cost would be about $1500.

Mr. Lawler thought that was too much money for that street when it was probable that but little would be collected for curbing and guttering.

Mr. Evans said that this was the road to the Glass Factory, whose owners paid a large amount to the city. He urged a macadam road.

At his suggestion the subject went over till the next meeting in order that the City Engineer might report the cost of macadamizing that street.

An order appropriating $125 for a pipe sewer 130 feet long on an alley in the rear of the old Theatre grounds, from Pitt to Royal street, was presented.

Mr. Burke said this would obviate the need of a Cameron street sewer.

Mr. Smith said there were now three tappers at $25 each.

Mr. Lawler suggested that the money for tapping sewers should be deposited first before the sewer was commenced.

The order was adopted.

Mr. Trimyer asked why the work on Lee street, from Duke to Prince, had not been done as ordered some time ago.

Mr. Smith responded that the appropriation had never been approved by the Mayor.

Mr. Burke hoped that when the work was begun it would be continued to King street.

An ordinance creating the office of Superintendent of Gas, etc., was reported by the combined committees of general laws, finance and light and read.

The ordinance was adopted without debate, yeas 13, noes 0.

An appropriation of $220 for a vitrified brick floor at the Columbia engine house was agreed to.

The Auditor reported that the $3,000 for the outdoor poor had been already exhausted; also, $6,000 for fire department.

It was said that $600 more had been spent for medicine this year than ever before.

It was stated that men who worked for the city at $1.25 per day and got a pension from the United States received medicine for their families free from this city. It was asked if there were no means by which such expenditures could be stopped.

Mr. Desmond responded that sometimes when the Physicians of the Poor refused medical orders the applicant went to the mayor and called other physicians and they gave orders for medicine. The committee on poor did all they could for the destitute.

Mr. Smith. You will be rewarded.

Mr. Desmond. Not in this council.

Mr. Trimyer explained a case in which an employee of this corporation at $1.25 per day did not get work for many days so that 75 cents per day was his average.

He had a sick wife, could not get the physicians of the poor or other physicians to attend her, and in pure charity he had been supplied with medicine from the city dispensary.

The Auditor's communication on the subject was referred to the finance committee.

A communication from the Co-operative Charities Association on the subject of "Old paupers, wandering children, sturdy beggars," &c., was received and referred to the committee on general laws, the committee asking that all laws, the committee whereby the suitable laws be passed whereby the needy poor might be properly cared for or accommodated at the almshouse.

An ordinance was presented prohibiting persons under the age of 16 years being on the streets of the city later than fifteen minutes after the ringing of a bell, to be known as the "curfew," and providing that any person so found being without a permit from his or her parents, or not accompanied by parents or guardians, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than $1 nor more than $5. The ordinance excepts children who are sent in search of physicians or to procure necessities of life. It also provides that the chief of police shall cause to be rung at 8 p. m. from October 1 to March 31, and at 9 p. m. from April 1 to September 30 the Columbia fire engine bell, fifteen strokes of which shall be the signal for all persons under the age of sixteen to retire to their respective homes. The ordinance was referred to the committee on general laws for report.

Mr. Evans called up the subject of the railway obstruction at Wolfe and Payne streets and reiterated the fact heretofore mentioned by him concerning the obstruction.

The report of the street committee requesting the railroad companies to place watchmen at the crossing was presented so as to direct the placing of watchmen there. It was agreed to and the board adjourned.

The best acting was done in the third act when the authorities tried to remove the children from their mother. George F. Hall was excellent; his songs and witty sayings kept the audience in good humor through the whole performance. Other members of the cast did acceptable work. Frankie St. John, as Twister, was excellent; she is a pretty girl, witty, and a clever dancer. A number of clever specialties were interspersed during the progress of the play."

MISSION SERVICES.—Rev. Nelson P. Dame, of Winchester, last night at St. Paul's Church commenced a series of mission services, which are to be continued until the 25th inst. Services were held again this morning at 11 o'clock and this evening at 8:30 o'clock, and tonight at 7:30 o'clock services will be held again. Tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock communion services will be held.

THE COUNTERFEITERS.—U. S. District Attorney Allen has written a letter to Commonwealth's Attorney Marbury, of this city, asking if the State authorities would turn over to the U. S. authorities the two men confined in jail here on the charge of passing counterfeit money. Mr. Marbury has replied, saying that the men would be tried in the Corporation Court here, but advising Mr. Allen to have them indicted in the U. S. Court so that if they escaped with but a light penalty in the State court they could be tried in the U. S. Court.

T. P. A.—C. W. Summers, president of the Virginia division of the Travelers' Protective Association, was in the city today. He reports the division in a flourishing condition, having increased the membership nearly 50 per cent. At this convention delegates will be chosen for the national convention at New Orleans in May.

THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS met last night, but in the absence of the Mayor and Commissioner Lindsey no business was transacted. The meeting was called by Secretary Miller and the Mayor stated that as he (the Mayor) had not been asked to call the meeting, as is customary, he declined to attend. It is reported that Officer Knight will soon resign his position on the police force and already there are applications for the vacancy, should it occur.

There will be eight districts in all—two in the First, one in the Second, three in the Third and two in the Fourth ward.
